Russia Expels
Trio American
Army AttachesColonel, Two Captains
Are Accused Of Being
Improper At Embassy

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Russia has expelled three American Army officers attached to the American Embassy in Moscow on the ground they were involved in improper activities, informed sources said today.

The three men — a lieutenant colonel and two captains — are understood to have already left the Soviet Union.

The Russian move struck a discordant note in Moscow's current peace offensive and opened the way for retaliation by the United States against Soviet diplomats here and in New York.

Latest Maneuver

It came as the latest maneuver in a diplomatic feud between Russia and the United States which has seen several diplomats on each side expelled on charges of espionage.

The Americans involved in the latest incident were reported to be Lt. Col. John S. Benson, assigned to Moscow about 10 months; Capt. William R. Stroud, an embassy attachee for 15 months; and Capt. Walter Mule who had been in Moscow 27 months. All three were assistant Army attaches.

When the story broke today, the State Department refused to make any official comment. Officials appeared upset because a reporter learned about it.

Reliable informants, however, reported the three Americans had been declared persons non grata — a diplomatic phrase which means they are no longer acceptable in the Soviet Union.

Move Against "Spies"

In the past, Russia and the United States both have resorted to this diplomatic move whenever they want to force the departure of anyone suspected or accused of spying on them.

In the last such case, July 3, 1954, Russia expelled two Americans — Lt. Col. H. Felchlin, an assistant attache; and Maj. W. McKinney. They were charged with seeking to perform espionage work, an activity "incompatible with their diplomatic status." The State Department categorically denied Russia's charge.

The department said at the time that Russia's move actually was retaliation against the United States for forcing the departure earlier in 1954 of three Soviet diplomats alleged to have engaged in spying.

Producer John Golden
Succumbs In Sleep

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The last-act curtain fell today on the life of John Golden, the fabulous Broadway producer with the touch that rivaled his name. He died in his sleep at the age of 80.

He was stage-struck from the age of 8. Few men took more from the theater than he did. Even fewer gave as much back. He was the best known philanthropist in show business, where generosity is no rarity.

Death came softly to Golden in his 15-room home on a 20-acre estate in Bayside, Queens, on the North Shore of Long Island near the city limits and not far from the Sound.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 17 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov became a tourist today and received a cowboy hat as he took in the sights of the West.

Gifts of 10-gallon hats were heartily accepted by Molotov and Georgi N. Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, at a brief stopover here.

Behind The Scenes

Group To Study
Ike's Employee
Security Plan

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—A Senate committee voted unanimously today to create a special commission to study the Eisenhower administration's employee security program. Meanwhile charges of "rottenness" in the program were aired before another committee.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said approval of the commission by the Government Operations Committee was "one of the most significant developments in the field of security" in the past decade.

He added "Congress will at long last have an opportunity to bring order out of confusion" in the controversial program.

At the same time Louis J. Lyell, fired as a security investigator for the Small Business Administration, told a Senate Civil Service subcommittee its hearings on the security program will be "a revelation of rottenness."

But Wendell S. Barnes, head of the SBA, said Lyell and another ousted investigator "mocked the truth" in their testimony blasting the SBA security program as grossly unfair.

Lyell testified his reports on employee investigations had been falsified by higher officials to make out stronger cases against employees.

He and Clarence E. Clarke, another former SBA investigator, charged many employees were forced out of their jobs unjustly. Lyell said the program was conducted with "total disregard" for the rights of individuals.

The resolution approved by the Government Operations Committee would create a 12-man commission to study and report on all aspects of the security program by Dec. 31, 1956. Although the decision was reported as unanimous, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) withheld his vote.

Fermi Memorial
Unveiled In Italy

PISA, Italy, June 17 (AP)—A marble memorial to the atomic physicist Enrico Fermi was unveiled today at his old university before 400 scientists from many nations.

Physicists from East and West took time off from their studies at the Pisa International Conference on Elementary Particles to honor the Italian-born scientist.

The ceremony took place at the University of Pisa, where Fermi was an outstanding science student.

Fermi died early this year in Chicago. He had been on the faculty of the University of Chicago for several years.

Woman Explorer
Sees North Pole

BODOE, Norway, June 17 (AP)—A grey-haired American woman explorer had her greatest wish fulfilled today. She saw the North Pole.

Miss Louise A. Boyd, 68, of San Rafael, Calif., who has spent years in the Arctic on seven expeditions since 1926, returned to this northern Norwegian town early tonight after a 14-hour round trip to the top of the world by chartered plane.

"This has been the most wonderful experience of my life," she said.

On her previous Arctic expeditions Miss Boyd never got closer to the north pole than 500 miles. Before her trip today, she said she wanted to complete her knowledge of the polar regions with a first hand view of the Pole.

Man Buried
Beneath Clay

DETROIT, June 17 (AP)—Roy Carps was buried alive under 6 feet of clay for 2½ hours today with a broken leg and remained conscious throughout the ordeal.

The 32-year-old construction worker was trapped when the walls of a sewer trench in which he was working collapsed. But when the heavy clay tumbled in, Johnson's head was pushed against his left arm in such a way that he had breathing space. There were other air pockets between the clods of clay.

Carps said he lay there fully conscious and prayed the air would hold out.

As the diggers neared him, Carps told them once: "You're hitting my head."

Ike Signs Veterans
Loan Benefits Bill

EMERGENCY WHITE HOUSE, June 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill to allow veterans the same loan benefits on farm housing that apply to urban homes.

That measure raises to $7,500 or 60 percent—whichever is less—the amount of a loan that the Veterans Administration can guarantee on a veterans' farm house. The previous figure was $4,000 or 50 percent.

Pope Receives
Reports From
Expelled Clergy

VATICAN CITY, June 17 (AP)—Pope Pius XII heard a first-hand report today on troubles of the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina and gave its hierarchy, clergy and people his blessing.

Two prelates expelled by the government of President Juan D. Peron brought the report to the Pope.

The expulsion was followed by quick proclamation of excommunication of all who had part in it, including Peron, and a few hours later by bloody fighting in Buenos Aires.

These sudden events, said the Vatican radio, had "profoundly upset Catholics and friends of liberty and human dignity throughout the world."

The two prelates, Msgr. Manuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Pablo Novoa, were hurried to the pontiff's side for an audience of almost an hour and a half.

The Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano said the pontiff received the prelates "with most effusive amiability."

The Vatican radio described their expulsion as "brutal." Peron, it said, "follows the iniquitous path of persecutors of all times. But, perhaps, he has surpassed them all in speed. Since last November until today, he has burned up the roads."

Some Vatican sources expressed fear that there might be new outbreaks of violence and bloodshed and that Peron might now take even sterner measures against the church.

Ike Asks Peace Prayers,
Better CD Organization

EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert, June 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower rang down the curtain on Operation Alert, 1955 today with a call for peace prayers, better Civil Defense organization and quick approval by Congress of his military reserve program.

Speaking from a secret command post away from Washington, Eisenhower said he derived "great encouragement" from lessons learned in the vast Civil Defense exercise — one that saw more than 50 cities theoretically wiped out and 15,000 government people actually evacuated from the capital before it was "bombed to radioactive rubble."

But in solemn tones the chief executive said:

"This is my deepest impression of this exercise: The most devoted daily prayers that any of us has should be uttered in the supplication that this kind of disaster never comes to the United States."

Then — in a brief address offered to but not carried "live" by national radio networks — Eisenhower declared the most important

Western Big
Three Confers
With AdenauerPlans Are Completed
For High Level Talks
With Soviet Leaders

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The Western Big Three ended two days of high-level talks today with the expressed hope that "much can be achieved" in the coming months toward "the goal of peace."

A joint communique issued by the American, British and French foreign ministers, after laying plans for the heads of state "summit" meeting with Russia at Geneva July 18, said:

"On the threshold of the 10th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations, the foreign ministers are confident that the common policies which they and their Allies have successfully pursued in the past will provide the foundation for further progress in the settlement of outstanding problems."

"They are hopeful that with persistence much can be achieved in the coming months towards the goal of peace with freedom and justice to which they and the members of the United Nations are dedicated."

Confer With Adenauer

The foreign ministers conferred at their final session with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and reportedly gave him a free hand on his forthcoming trip to Moscow.

A spokesman said the ministers have full confidence in Adenauer and made no attempt to impose any pre-conditions on his visit.

The date of the trip, in response to a Soviet invitation, was understood to have been discussed, but, if decided upon, was not disclosed.

It will follow the Four-Power "summit" meeting.

Adenauer, who is Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay before joining in their talks at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The communique, which Adenauer was said to have endorsed informally, said plans were discussed for consultations in Paris with members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, prior to the Geneva talks.

Purpose of the meeting apparently is to give the Big Three an opportunity to keep all NATO partners officially informed on the preparations made for the summit session. No date was announced for the Paris meeting.

The communique said the foreign ministers "took note" of the Soviet government's formal acceptance of the invitation to the summit meeting and reaffirmed the view they then expressed that "the time had now come for a new effort to resolve the great problems which confront us."

"They were pleased," it added, "to have the opportunity of discussing with Chancellor Adenauer problems of particular concern to Germany."

It said also that the foreign ministers would meet Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Monday in San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations.

The President's final report on Operation Alert was carried by telephone to the Emergency Press Center some 200 miles away. Plans for it to be broadcast immediately coast-to-coast fell through, however. The networks, which apparently received only a short notice of it, did not carry it "live," but made recordings for later broadcasts.

Peron Threatens
Mobs Crackdown
Catholic Churches Looted And Burned

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 17 (AP)—Argentine President Juan Peron tonight threatened to crack down on free-roaming mobs who looted and burned Catholic churches in the bloody Thursday revolt in Buenos Aires.

The Argentine strong man, in a broadcast filled with tremulous appeals for calm and order, blamed Communists for the attacks on the churches and insisted his feud with the Roman Catholic hierarchy was not against religion.

No Break Seen
In Disappearance
Of Jurist, Wife

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 17 (AP)—The disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife remained a deep mystery tonight.

State Investigator W. H. (Buddy) Gasque was quoted as saying he expected an early break, but when reached by telephone later the investigator denied the report.

Wealthy, highly respected Judge Chillingworth, 58, and his wife, Marjorie, 57 disappeared from their summer cottage on the oceanfront at Manalapan, 10 miles south of here, during the night Tuesday or early Wednesday. Bloodstains were found on the steps leading to the beach and around a small shelter on the beach.

Doors to the house were open, and a floodlight illuminating the steps and beach was smashed. Beds had been slept in, indicating the couple had retired and were awakened to face an unknown fate.

The family, hopeful their mother and father are alive, named an intermediary for possible kidnappers to contact. He is the Rev. Harry H. Waller, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who reported receiving a number of calls, none of them helpful. He is maintaining a 24-hour telephone watch.

Three daughters of the couple—Neva of New York, Mrs. George Wright of Gainesville, and Mrs. William Cooper of Roselle, N. J.—are maintaining a watch at the house from which their parents disappeared. Two sheriff's deputies are with them.

Rewards totaling $11,500 have been offered by the town of Palm Beach and the county bar association for their safe return or information leading to conviction of their slayers. Palm Beach County also has authorized a $5,000 reward subject to approval of the state attorney general and the County Budget Board.

Traffic Cops

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Traffic cops spent years figuring this one out, but $5,000 in fines were handed out when they did.

They began issuing summonses in 1947 on a car owned by a 15-foot - 1 brunette; weight, 135 pounds; name, Mrs. Dana Miller.

As the tickets mounted—86 in the eight years—they began looking for the brunette, Saul J. Allen, the Traffic Bureau head, would get a report she was seen in a certain neighborhood at 2 p.m. yesterday. And he would get another report she was seen at 2 p.m. yesterday miles away.

Allen is a stubborn man, however, and today the brunette Mrs. Miller stood in court. With her was another brunette, Mrs. Sonia Shay of Carmel, N. Y.—her twin sister.

Mrs. Miller was fined a record $4,300; Mrs. Shay, who had a mere 14 tickets on her car was fined $700.

Errol Flynn Sues

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Movie star Errol Flynn has brought a million-dollar libel suit against the magazine Confidential.

It came to light today when the publishers in State Supreme Court demanded a bill of particulars outlining the basis of the suit. Flynn claims he was libeled in Confidential's March issue in an article that referred to "the greatest show on earth—Errol Flynn and his two-way mirror."

U. S. Senate
Approves Pact
After DebateIndependence Given
Country First Time
Since Defeat In 1938

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The Senate today ratified the treaty restoring independence to Austria by the two-thirds majority required. Voting in opposition were three Republicans — Jenner (Ind.) Malone (Nev.) and McCarthy (Wis.)

The treaty got strong bi-partisan support in several hours of debate, although Sen. Jenner asserted it would "doom" Austria and Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) called the reparations to Russia "robbery" and "appeasement."

Signed By Russia

The pact, signed by Russia after years of balking, restores sovereignty to Austria for the first time since 1938 when Hitler attached that country to Germany. Austria has already ratified it, but it still must be ratified by Great Britain, France and Russia. The document was signed in Vienna May 15.

During the debate preceding ratification, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), floor manager for the treaty in the absence of Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the treaty makes Austria "a bastion of freedom extending into eastern Europe."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) told the Senate he hopes full-fledged membership in the United Nations for Austria will follow as "she is entitled to that right."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) termed the treaty a "milestone on a road to understanding" among nations, and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called it a "milestone in American diplomacy."

Refuses Armament

But Sen. Jenner said the treaty does not restore Austrian sovereignty at all. He contended it refuses Austria full rearmament rights, rules out military alliances, and makes it impossible for Austria to "abolish subversive organizations out to destroy" her.

"How can this Senate be a party to ratifying such a treaty?" Jenner asked. He added it was not a question of simply "just to Austria" but of "the security of the United States."

Once the treaty is effective, Jenner said, Austria is "doomed — she's done," because only with Russian consent could future changes be made in Austria's status.

Nautilus Ends
Shakedown Trip

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17 (AP)—The world's only atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus, has completed a six-week shakedown period successfully, the Navy reported today. The tests included a 1,400-mile voyage submerged.

The Nautilus, on a cruise to the Caribbean in May, did not surface after leaving here until she reached San Juan, Puerto Rico, the Navy said.

Her log since January, when she moved under atomic power for the first time, shows more than 10,000 miles traveled and 180 dives.

Local training examinations, with brief periods in port, are now in store for the Nautilus, the Navy said. No visits to other ports are scheduled.

Year Makes Quite A Change
In Alabama's Phenix City

PHENIX CITY, Ala., June 17 (AP)—In the 12 months since an assassin cut short the crime-fighting career of A. L. Patterson, Phenix City has changed from a roaring, wide-open vice-ridden gambling town to a quiet peaceful city trying to forget the sordid past.

It was a year ago tomorrow that Patterson, winner of the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Alabama on a promise to break up the racketeering empire, was shot to death outside his Phenix City law office.

Former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller is serving a life term in prison for the murder.

Ironically, he began his sentence today while attorneys began work on an appeal to the State Supreme Court. Fuller was convicted March 11. An appeal for a new trial was denied yesterday.

Two other former public officials, ex-Prosecuting Atty. Arch Ferrell and former Atty. Gen. Si Garrett, also were indicted for first degree murder. Ferrell was acquitted. Garrett is in a mental institution at Galveston, Tex.

But the former attorney general's lawyers, who also represented Fuller, announced last week that Garrett would return to Alabama and face trial "soon."

The murder anniversary brought from the slain crusader's son, John a renewal of his promise to "keep Phenix City clean." Young Patterson was elected attorney general after his father was killed.

Organized gambling, prostitution and other rackets are no longer evident in the city long notorious for its neon-lighted honky-tonks and girlie bars whose owners fattened on the dollars of infamy from nearby Ft. Benning, Ga.

An unprecedented grand jury investigation and a National Guard occupation unparalleled perhaps in the nation's history scoured out the vice dens after Patterson was murdered and broke the back of a vice ring that took in millions of dollars a year.

Police Release Boy Quizzed In Murders

Norman Hager Held For 2½ Days

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Police today freed an 18-year-old boy held 2½ days for questioning in the slaying of two pretty teen-age girls in a suburban Maryland picnic ground.

Norman William Hager, the youth, was released after his attorneys successfully brought habeas corpus proceedings charging he had been held illegally without communication with parents or attorneys.

His release left the baffling case still unsolved. The school girl victims, Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, were found Wednesday morning, riddled by a fusillade of fourteen .22 caliber rifle bullets near the University of Maryland. They had not been sexually attacked.

The habeas corpus hearing, before Judge Charles C. Marbury in Upper Marlboro, Md., lasted only two minutes. Atty. A. Gwynn Bowie said the state had shown no reason for holding the youth.

Blair H. Smith, states attorney for Prince George County, replied: "The state will consent to the granting of the writ. It does not wish to detain Norman William Hager any longer."

Hager promptly joined his parents and left the courthouse.

Shortly before the court session the youth had been booked officially for "investigation of murder." The commitment papers were dated the day of the shooting but were not signed or witnessed until today.

George McLeish, another attorney for Hager, said he believed District of Columbia police, cooperating in the case, were "emotionally aroused" because one of the victims was a daughter of a district policeman.

Hager was taken to the courtroom from Prince Georges Hospital, where District of Columbia Dep. Coroner Richard Rosenberg had conducted tests for any bloodstains. The results were not announced.

In a search for the murder weapon, scores of detectives scanned sales records in the District and nearby Maryland and Virginia. Police and firemen also searched a shallow lake near the scene of the slaying.

Man Is Sentenced For Assault To Rape

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Ivel Odie Smith, 36-year-old Middlesex carpenter, was sentenced to 15 months in prison today on his conviction of assault with intent to rape a 13-year-old girl at Aberdeen Army Proving Ground.

A Federal Court jury cleared Smith last week of charges of rape and carnally knowing the girl, daughter of Smith's landlady.

Smith's defense was that the incident with the girl was nothing more than "fondling" initiated by her.

Further Study Of Institutions' Spending Sought

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—The chairman of a special legislative committee inspecting state institutions said today enough examples of lavish spending were found to convince him a further study should be made.

Del. John Whitmore (D-Anne Arundel) said there were also examples of "institutions doing a fine job with very modest facilities."

On the other hand, he said there were some cases of buildings "we think far more elaborate than necessary for their purposes — startling examples of too much spending of money."

The committee Whitmore heads was set up to inspect physical facilities of State institutions. The chairman declined to give specific examples until a formal report has been filed.

The committee has visited Salisbury State Teachers College, Deershead Chronic Disease Hospital, Salisbury; Eastern Shore State Hospital, Cambridge; Morgan State College, Baltimore; Maryland Training School for Boys, near Towson; Mt. Wilson Sanatorium and Rosewood State Training School, near Pikesville, and the Montrose School for Girls near Reisterstown.

Whitmore said the committee originally had intended only a spot check. "However, we ran into so much interesting material we decided to cover the entire state. What we are learning will be of great benefit at the next legislative session and will enable us to evaluate money requests more intelligently, whether they are for capital improvements or for operating expenses," he said.

Other committee members are Sen. Jewell (D-Kent) and Del. Smelser (D-Frederick).

Whitmore said the inspections, which will also extend to forest and park facilities, would be finished in mid-July.

Family Has Several Cases Of Diphtheria

CAMBRIDGE, June 17 (AP)—Two Negro children were being rushed to University Hospitals, Baltimore, late today for treatment of diphtheria.

Willie Thompson, 12 and his six-year-old brother, Rubin, were the victims of the ailment. Dr. Lawrence Maryanov said they had the disease and four other Thompson children were under observation as possible cases.

Dr. Maryanov said six of the seven youngsters had sore throats. He said he hadn't seen diphtheria "in years" and gave the youngsters shots of penicillin when they visited his office for treatment.

He had smeared taken on Willie and Rubin and their test showed positive results.

Wheat Inspectors Get Protection

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Three Government inspectors who were threatened with being shot by farmers whose wheat acreage they wanted to measure received special court protection today.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled they were within their rights in visiting the Carroll County farms of Lewis Shafer Sr. and his three sons to carry out their inspection.

Thomsen, in an opinion discounting 20 separate defense arguments, said he will issue an order requested by the government to prohibit the Shafers from interfering with the inspectors.

The inspectors were chased off one of the two Shafer farms near Westminster last April 27. They had gone there to determine whether the amount of wheat the Shafers planted was within the acreage allotted under Department of Agriculture quotas.

Thomsen, who had ruled in favor of another group of farmers in a similar case last year, noted that new federal regulations had been adopted since then. These specifically authorize officials to enter farmland for inspection purposes.

Physician Convicted In Abortion Cases

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Dr. Barnett Milton Rhett, 71-year-old Negro physician, was released on probation today under a 10-year suspended penitentiary sentence after conviction on three abortion charges.

Dr. Rhett has served as a member of the State Interracial Commission and on the State Commission on Higher Education of Negroes.

The probation department had recommended suspension of sentence on condition the elderly man refrain from practicing medicine. The court, however, did not impose that condition.

Husband Of TV Star Imogene Coca Dies In Hospital

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Robert Burton, 46, husband of television actress Imogene Coca, died today at Mt. Sinai Hospital. He had been ill for several months.

A former actor, song and dance man and musician, Burton and Miss Coca were married 21 years ago when both were appearing on Broadway. In recent years he owned a part interest in a small record company.

Miss Coca canceled her scheduled NBC-TV show of tomorrow night. A kinescope of one of her old shows will be substituted.

Judge Refuses To Make Ruling In Segregation Case

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen today refused to rule on a motion to open municipal swimming pools to Negroes and whites alike until the Supreme Court decides similar cases.

Baltimore public swimming pools open tomorrow. The motion was brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at a hearing before Judge Thomsen today.

Two similar cases brought by the NAACP last year, (1) to have swimming facilities at Baltimore's Ft. Smallwood Beach desegregated, and (2) to open Sandy Point State Park to Negroes and whites alike, were denied by Judge Thomsen.

The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Judge Thomsen and the city and State appealed to the Supreme Court.

$11,000 Granted Aviation Group

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—A grant of $11,000 from Maryland's general emergency fund has been made to keep the State Aviation Commission in existence.

Without it, the commission would have perished July 1 because the 1955 General Assembly cut its appropriations out of the budget.

Budget Director James G. Renne said Gov. McKeldin and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who constitute two-thirds of the Board of Public Works, agreed to the grant after receiving consent from legislative leaders.

The money will permit the commission to operate at a bare minimum for the next eight months until the Legislature meets again and some plan can be offered to finance the agency.

The governor's budget contained a $25,222 appropriation for the commission, but the entire amount was deleted by finance committees of the House and Senate. They complained "the commission's services are not of sufficient public value to justify their cost."

The feeling was, however, legislators took the step to jolt the commission into finding a scheme that would make it entirely or totally self supporting.

A Legislative Council sponsored bill that would have provided financing through gasoline tax refunds failed to pass.

Airlines Take Advantage Of British Dock Strike

LONDON, June 17 (AP)—A British seamen's strike boomed business on transatlantic air lanes today. Chartered planes and scheduled airlines took off for New York with every seat filled, providing an airlift home for hundreds of Americans who had been stranded at the docks.

Thus far no Americans have appealed to the U. S. Embassy for aid, although some of them—at the end of long vacations abroad—are counting their pennies.

Eight big Cunard and Canadian Pacific ships now are stranded in Southampton and Liverpool, including the 81,273-ton Queen Mary. There were signs the 500 strikers—mostly stewards and members of catering staffs—were anxious for a quick settlement of the dispute over hours and working conditions.

Officials of the transatlantic airlines say that during the next week their planes will be able to carry a majority of the Americans left high and dry.

Even if they have to wait a few days, those flying home still will reach New York as soon as they would have aboard ship. They will also save at least $14 in fare on the deal—plus the tips they will not have to pay.

In the past 24 hours, planes have taken approximately 500 of the 1,175 persons originally scheduled to sail yesterday aboard the Queen Mary. Most of them were Americans.

The Cunard line—hardest hit by the strike—said it would return all fares. It also said 12 more aircraft have been chartered to transport stranded passengers.

The strike held in port the Cunarders Queen Mary, Mauretania, Ascania, Britannic, Saxonia and Scythia and the Canadian Pacific ships Empress of Australia and Empress of Scotland.

The strikers are demanding a 48-hour week, higher shore subsistence allowance and improved living conditions afloat. Some say they have worked as much as 60 or 70 hours a week.

Now the younger men face the prospect of being drafted into Britain's armed services. The draft laws exempt merchant seamen, but they can be called up if they are without a ship 14 days or more.

Seamen's Strike Gradually Ends

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—An East Coast seamen's strike was gradually dissolving today under an agreed-on principle of a guaranteed wage plan.

There was no immediate relaxation of the tie-up of two-score ships from Texas to Maine. However, there was peace on one front in the contract battle and a promise of peace on the others.

The strike of 28,000 CIO National Maritime Union sailors early Thursday had threatened to snarl American flag transatlantic passenger service at the peak of a record tourist year. However, no passenger liners were in position to be struck before the weekend.

By a voice vote, NMU members approved a contract agreement today with operators of East and Gulf coast liners and freighters. It was expected that 37 tanker firms might soon fall in line.

However, the 28,000 NMU members were told not to sail any ships until three smaller unions also come to terms with the shippers. Little difficulty was anticipated in that area, however, since the NMU is the pattern-setter in the field.

Alert "Proves" Most People Escape Bomb

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Baltimore's Civil Defense director said today that "Operation Alert" on Wednesday showed residents of the city can get at least four miles away from the center of the probable enemy target area with two hours' warning.

Col. Frank Milani said the test also had shown about 140,000 persons could be moved much farther away by railroad in the same two hours.

No one actually was moved during the Wednesday test, but railroad men set up a command post at City Hall as soon as the sirens blew.

Using equipment then available in the various railroad yards, they theoretically supplied transportation for 140,000 on outgoing rail lines in the first two hours.

Col. Milani estimated a complete evacuation of Baltimore would require at least three hours' warning.

Half a dozen serious road blocks developed Wednesday in the theoretical plan to get as many as possible out of the city in automobiles, on buses, or afoot.

The worst problem was the Reisterstown Road and Park Heights Avenue intersection at Park Circle in the northwest part of the city.

Col. Milani said the practice alert demonstrated the city's main defense control center and district branches were generally well coordinated.

"Training has paid off in a smooth working staff," he said.

Miss Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyllys W. Robertson, Cresaptown, will become the bride of Richard Allen Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Connor, Frostburg, June 28, in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss Mary Jane Robertson, to be her maid of honor and only attendant, while Ray Boettner serves as Mr. Connor's best man. The ushers will be Harry Lancaster, Russell Robertson and Charles Kienhoffer.

Music featured the entertainment, which included reading back of notes, taken by Miss Young, of remarks of the bride-elect while opening her gifts.

Guests were Miss Mae Howdyshe, Miss Kathryn Duncan, Mrs. Raymond Swack, Mrs. Virginia Vandegrift, Mrs. Betty Bess, Mrs. Marlin Stutzman, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn, Mrs. Lucille McGeady, Mrs. Kathryn McSorley, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mary Jane Robertson, Bonnie Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Dr. Elizabeth Brings Noted In Article On Kindness

In discussing the importance of sympathy with the patient, recognition was paid to Dr. Elizabeth G. Brings, Cumberland, by Dr. Alvarez, emeritus consultant in medicine, Mayo Clinic, and emeritus professor of medicine, Mayo Foundation, in his column which appeared June 9 in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

Dr. Alvarez reports he received a "very thought-producing letter from Dr. Brings. She approved of my idea that if all of us doctors were always kind and thoughtful of the comfort of patients, there would be no trouble about the public relations of the medical profession. Dr. Brings was telling of a day in Vienna, when she was up for her oral examination in surgery under Professor Hochenegg. After having answered satisfactorily the theoretical questions, a girl was brought in, and the professor said, 'Here is a patient for your practical examination.' This was a young woman in her working clothes who was standing at the door, timidly facing the professor and his staff. She was holding up one arm with the other, and evidently one of her fingers was greatly swollen; her face was flushed and filled with pain."

As Dr. Brings said, "While I was quickly reviewing in my mind the diagnosis and treatment of a bad infection of a finger, I took a chair from the corner and brought it over to the patient. 'Please be seated,' I said, expecting then to start my discussion. But the professor, smiling at me said, 'You have passed; you were excellent.'"

DADDY CAN FIX ANYTHING

The tremendous faith of a child in his father! To the conscientious father it is frightening, indeed. And, to the conscientious mother, equally frightening is her child's trust in her.

It takes something more than love and good intentions to live up to the expectations of our children. We need a strength and wisdom and tenderness that do not come automatically with the responsibility of parenthood.

God provides, and the Church instills in our lives, the spiritual gifts which our parenthood requires. We were meant to cultivate these qualities, for with every challenge God offers us adequate resources.

And our children will grow as we grow in the Christian faith, for the most obvious truth in the world is that a child wants to be like his Mother and Dad.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Late Rally Brings Gains As Stock Market Advances

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP) — The stock market advanced today in a late rally. The rise brought gains of 1 to 2 points frequently. Losses seldom went past a point.

The afternoon rally was mostly in the railroads, rail equipments, movie issues, motors, tobaccos, and chemicals together with many individual issues. The railroads and equipment issues had the benefit of predictions of heavy rail traffic and the consequent need for more equipment.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents at $171.30, another new high. The market in the past 10 sessions has established new highs eight times.

Volume simmered down to 2,340,000 shares against 2,760,000 yesterday.

Ashland Oil was the day's most active issue up 3/4 at 16 1/2 on 62,900 shares.

Victor Chemical was second up 1 1/2 at 35. Loew's was in third place up 1 1/2 at 22 1/2, and then came Pennsylvania Railroad up 1/4 at 29 1/2. Bond Stores up 1/2 at 18 1/2, and Sperry Rand Corp. "when issued" up 1/4 at 27 1/2.

Among advancing stocks were New York Central up 1/4, Southern Railway 1/4, Northern Pacific 1/4, Warner Bros. 1/4, Columbia Pictures 1/4, ACF Industries 1/4, Westinghouse Air Brake 1/2, Pullman 2 1/2, Reynolds Tobacco "B" 1, American Can 1, General Electric 1/4, Virginia Carolina Chemical 2 1/2, U. S. Steel 1/4, Chrysler 1, Studebaker-Packard 1/2, General Tire 1/2, and Philco 1/2.

Lower were such issues as Admiral Corp. off 1/4, Bethlehem Steel 1/4, Goodrich 1/4, Douglas Aircraft 1, International Telephone 1/4, Eastern Air Lines 1/4, and Western Union 1/4.

Dairy Farm Tour Is Arranged In Garrett County

Grantsville Area To Be Visited

OAKLAND — The Garrett County Breeding Circuit of the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative will sponsor a tour of three dairy farms today, according to Joseph H. Carter, county agent.

The tour will start at 12:30 p. m. at the Kamp farm near Grantsville, Carter said. Their herd, he explained, demonstrates the rapid progress that can be made through the use of the best bulls available. The Kamps, he continued, claimed their foundation cows were rather poor producers, but that they are now shipping over 600 pounds of milk daily from 16 "artificial" daughters. A number of good dairy practices can be seen in the visit at the Kamp farm, the county agent said.

The next stop will be at the farm of Charles Watts, west of Grantsville where five different groups of cows will illustrate important phases of his dairy herd improvement program. First, artificial daughters will be compared with offspring from natural service. Next we will look at three different cow families and then compare a four-generation cow family, of which the three youngest are full sisters. The hay drier and milking parlor, which is under construction, will also be viewed during the visit.

The last farm to be visited will be that of Simon Tice at Grantsville. He has 21 artificially sired daughters, 21 of which are cows. Tice has an 11 dam-daughter D. H. L. A comparison that shows an increase of 4,114 pounds of milk per daughter and 132 pounds of butterfat. The daughters, Carter said, were sired by eight different Holstein bulls from the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative. In addition, there are six cows that have averaged producing 84.5 pounds of butterfat per month since they have freshened in this lactation. The herd affords an opportunity to look over some outstanding production records the county agent said, explaining that Tice's herd averaged 10,682 pounds of milk and 383.5 pounds of butterfat last year.

Social Security Now Aids Farmers And Farm Families

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a series of articles on Social Security, designed to furnish information to farmers and other self-employed persons of their rights and benefits under the program.

On January 1, this year, for the first time, farmers and farm workers were included, by act of Congress, in the nation's Social Security program.

With that date, earnings for farmers and most hired farm workers will be counted under Social Security. Many farmers and farm laborers have inquired about "what they are buying" under the plan, while many others are not fully informed of the entire program.

According to James E. Robertson, district manager for the Social Security Administration at Cumberland, "these people are buying, when they pay their Social Security taxes, old-age and survivors insurance."

When earnings stop because of death or because of retirement at age 65 or later, payments will be made by the federal government from the Social Security fund. In the event of death, survivors get the payments. In event of retirement, the insured worker gets the checks.

Here are two types of benefits payable:

1. RETIREMENT PAYMENTS
(1) Monthly payments to you as a retired farm worker or farmer.
(2) Monthly payments to you—
a. Wife, age 65 or over.
b. Child under 18.
c. Wife, regardless of age, if caring for child entitled to benefits.
d. Dependent husband.
2. SURVIVORS' OR DEATH PAYMENTS
(1) Monthly payments to you—
a. Widow, age 65 or over.
b. Widow (regardless of age) if caring for child entitled to benefits.
c. Child under 18.
d. Dependent widower, age 65 or over.
e. Dependent parent, age 65 or over.
(2) Lump-sum payment to you—
a. Widow or widower, or
b. To the person who paid burial expenses.

Benefits for a retired farmer run from $30 per month to $108.50 per month, depending upon the amount of his past earnings from employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security Act. Family benefits may run as high as $200 per month.

NEXT—Examples from the Benefit Table.

W. Va. Citizens Act On Boosts In Teacher Pay

Committee Views Finance Situation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — When the West Virginia Legislature closed up shop here — after voting down a penny increase in the sales tax to raise teachers' salaries — local citizens chalked up education gains on their own.

A representative group of county residents met here last month to seek some formula of greater local support of schools. At the meeting they praised the local tax assessor, John M. Slack, Jr., for increasing Kanawha County valuations by $50 million during his first two years in office. He was pledged additional appropriations in the next fiscal year to raise money for local support of schools, city and county governments.

In order to help the assessor's office further — by developing a future pattern for property equalization and higher values — a 10 member citizens advisory committee was appointed to make a survey of Kanawha county's public finance program. Dr. Ray H. Crist, chairman of the Committee on Legislation, West Virginia Citizens' Commission for Public Schools and chairman of the Kanawha County Education, is a member of the new committee.

On May 11, the voters of Kanawha and Putnam Counties overwhelmingly approved an extension of the special school levies. For the next three years, Kanawha County will raise $1,376,000 annually to augment teachers' salaries, maintain equipment and purchase supplies. For Putnam County, the figure is $1,100,000 annually.

A special citizens spring conference on education was scheduled to be held here as "Better Schools" went to press. The conference will deal with three major topics: Kanawha County school finances, the educational program and community interests.

Among the subjects to be covered: the state-county finance situation; a minimum school budget; Federal aid; curriculum and teacher ratings; vocational training and guidance; and the work of the local Citizens Commission.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company advertised it was shipping coffee and tobacco at 25 cents per hundredweight, while groceries, dry goods and other merchandise was rated at 35 cents per 100 pounds.

In comparison to the railroad rates, freight costs by wagon from Cumberland to Wheeling was 62½ cents per 100 pounds, and 50 cents per hundred to Pittsburgh.

The new building of the utility company is being constructed by the John I. Vandegrift firm, local contractors. Foundation blocks were laid yesterday.

The meet will be held at Huff's Pool, June 20 at 6:30 p. m. In case of bad weather the meet will be held the following evening June 21.

Elk Garden Man Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

Coal Truck Driver Shot In Temple

ELK GARDEN — A 43-year-old Elk Garden truck driver was found dead at his home this morning, of what Mineral County authorities presume to be a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The victim was Andrew Clifton Rawlings, who was found sitting on aavenport in the living room of his home with a .22 calibre wound in his temple.

His widow, Mrs. Irene Catherine Lucas Rawlings, told authorities she had risen early this morning to prepare breakfast for her 20-year-old son, Dale Rawlings, before he left for work. She went back to bed, Mrs. Rawlings stated, and when she arose again shortly after 8 o'clock she noticed a note from her husband explaining he was in the living room and "feeling bad."

Mrs. Rawlings then noted that a .22 calibre rifle belonging to her son, Dale, was missing. She explained to authorities that she was afraid to open the living room door, so called another son, Allan, 12 years of age, and sent him to get some neighbors.

After the neighbors came to the home, they went into the living room and found Mr. Rawlings dead. The widow told Sheriff Earl Kemp and Cpl. Frank H. Tribett of the West Virginia State Police, who are investigating, that her husband had been drinking. The deceased had hauled coal in the area as an occupation, it was reported.

Born in Westernport, he was a son of the late Andrew C. and Rose A. (Wilt) Rawlings. Surviving, besides his widow and sons, are a daughter, Miss Jean Rawlings, Baltimore; two brothers, Leonard Rawlings, of California, and John Rawlings, Akron, and four sisters, Mrs. Edith Johnson, Newcastle, Pa.; Mrs. Blanche Sawyer, Brownsville, Pa.

Condemnation Action Taken For Flood Job

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received copies of court papers in a condemnation suit brought by the United States government against the Cumberland Real Estate Corporation concerning a tract of land needed in the flood control project.

A total of 24,198 acres of land, the plot mainly consisting of the old Wolfe farm property between the C&O Canal and Potomac River on both the upper and lower sides of the Western Maryland Railway in the section where the railway tracks bisect the property just before entering the Knobley Mountain Tunnel.

The government has deposited $14,550 with the clerk of the U.S. District Court for Maryland in Baltimore to cover what the federal government feels is a fair price for the property involved.

Rex E. Dexter, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers here, said the property is needed for the channeling work which will be done in the Potomac in the vicinity of Smith's Island. Dexter said there may be a number of smaller tracts involved in the condemnation proceedings but the large tract described is the most important as far as the flood control project is concerned.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen of the U.S. District Court has signed an order in the case providing for the deposit of the money and action in the case. A jury would hear the condemnation proceedings if it comes to trial.

Civil Defense Program Planned At Park Friday

The training center for the Allegany County Civil Defense unit at Constitution Park will be dedicated at ceremonies next Friday at 2 p.m., according to William G. Barger, county CD director.

Scheduled to participate in the program are U. S. Senator John Marshall Butler, who will deliver the principal address; William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County, and Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Barger said invitations to attend the affair have been sent to all members of the Board of County Commissioners, the City Council and the County CD Advisory Board. Also to be present is Sheriff Ewing, state director of Civil Defense.

Following the dedication, Barger said demonstrations on rescue, firefighting and casualty clearing activities will be presented. The demonstrations, he continued, will include the use of oxygen masks and resuscitators, firefighting and rescue techniques, with the rescue demonstration featuring the transfer of casualties from upper floors by various methods.

Following this part of the program, a simulated A-bomb blast—by the use of coal dust—will be presented on the baseball diamond of the park. B&O Railroad Income Increases

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's net income for May was over $3,300,000, according to the report of Howard E. Simpson, president, following the monthly meeting of the board of directors in New York City Thursday.

This was an increase of approximately $1,600,000 as compared with May last year and was the largest net for any month since September 1952, when the figure was $3,627,000.

Simpson also announced the election of F. Abbot Goodhue as a director of the B&O. Goodhue previously had been designated as a director by the Chase Manhattan Bank, trustee of the convertible bonds of the railroad, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lawrence C. Marshall.

House Approves Flood Control Appropriation

The House Thursday approved a public works bill which included an appropriation for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The office of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall said the amount of the flood control appropriation was $1,400,000, the amount which had been recommended for the current phase of the project.

Arrangements In Readiness For Firemen's Convention

Committees of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association met Wednesday in the LaVale Fire Hall and reported arrangements have been completed for the convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association in Cumberland Tuesday through Friday.

Cromwell C. Zembower of LaVale and Nelson W. Russler, this city, co-chairman of the general convention committee, said the event will begin with a state executive committee meeting and officers' dinner at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Parade Climax
Climax of the convention will be the parade next Friday night. It will form on streets adjacent to Virginia Avenue and will begin on that thoroughfare at Laing Avenue. It will follow Virginia Avenue to Maryland Avenue, Maryland Avenue to Williams Street, Williams Street to Park Street, Park Street to Baltimore Street, Baltimore Street to Mechanic Street, South Mechanic Street to Harrison Street, Harrison to South Centre disbanding at the State Armory.

Zembower and Russler reported that as of Wednesday night the parade lineup included ten bands, 43 pieces of firefighting equipment and 28 marching units.

The Allegany-Garrett association will decorate a number of streets in Cumberland for the convention. A previous report led residents to believe the city was footing the cost, but this is not the case. The association is financing this phase of the convention.

Minutes Reprinted

Zembower reported the Allegany-Garrett association, host to the convention, has reprinted copies of the minutes of the first state convention held in 1893 in Frederick. These will be sold as souvenirs.

The old minutes record that Frostburg Fire Department was the only Allegany County outfit joining the state organization.

In the 1893 parade, Frostburg and the Goodwill Fire Company of Lonaconing won prizes in the convention parade, according to the minutes.

Drug Addiction On The Increase

In an appearance before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee in Washington, Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger released some frightening figures on the increase of the vicious dope racket in the United States.

Some 60,000 Americans, or one out of 3,000, is now a confirmed drug addict, according to the narcotics expert. This figure represents a 300 per cent increase over the years 1938 to 1948, when one out of 10,000 Americans was a captive of the dope peddlers.

Alarming as the tremendous increase in the narcotics traffic has been in just 10 years, it is nothing compared to what may happen in the next decade if the racket is allowed to flourish unchecked. It was on this urgent basis that Mr. Anslinger appealed to the senators for stronger laws to cope with the problem.

"Strong laws, good enforcement, stiff sentences, and a compulsory hospitalization program are the necessary foundations upon which any successful program must be predicated. These will go a long way toward suppressing the abuse of narcotic drugs," Anslinger told the committee.

An interesting visitor to the hearing, Tom Reid, chairman of the Canadian Senate's Narcotics Investigating Committee, warned the senators that from his own experience he knew they had an uphill fight. He said Canada has 3,200 drug addicts, or one out of 4,600, a considerably better record than the United States.

This sordid racket is no penny ante game. Some $600,000 daily is being drained from the American pocketbook. The tragedy is the only net result of this huge sum is the ruination of countless Americans, physically and mentally. Those who feed this sickness should be tried for manslaughter, for, in reality, that is the crime they have committed.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Refugee Speaks

Dr. Otto Nathan took refuge in the United States from the Nazis, became a professor of economics at New York University, was named by Albert Einstein as his executor, and has been fighting the State Department in the courts because it has refused to grant him a passport to travel in Europe. Thus far, he has not disclosed what he has done with Einstein's ashes and there is a suspicion among some that his current compulsion to go to Europe has something to do with the disposition of the final remains of the philosopher.

In the Charleston (West Virginia) Daily Mail of February 10, I find a report of a speech Dr. Nathan delivered in that city. One paragraph followed almost word for word the statements of a Communist I listened to in Lewisham, outside of London, during the recent elections in England. Dr. Nathan said in Charleston:

"The United States is the leader of Western countries establishing military bases all around the U.S.S.R., and that is why the Russians consider us the chief offenders in the cold war."

Dr. Nathan, in his speech, went right down the line. He favored co-existence:

"We must face the cold facts of reality that there are two rival camps—capitalism and communism, and I am convinced that they can co-exist . . .

"I say again, again and again that we must learn to co-exist in the two worlds—capitalism and communism—it is a historical destiny that they exist."

He placed the United States in the category of imperialistic nations:

"The imperialism and colonialism practiced in underdeveloped countries are equally responsible for the existence of the cold war. The United States is guilty of interference in the governments of some Latin American nations . . .

"We (the United States) had no business interfering in the struggle of the shoeless and economically distressed people of Guatemala—it was a popular uprising of the native people—some of whom may be Communists."

Dr. Otto Nathan, as a person, is not of tremendous significance. His influence in this country has been scant. His name emerged when Einstein died. One can pass over such statements as the private opinion of an individual, an opinion to which he is entitled in a free country. Let him speak. Let him join all sorts of organizations. The United States survives all this and more.

But I am often puzzled by the phenomenon that so many of those to whom we gave sanctuary in the days when Hitler was murdering his opposition, show so little gratitude for what was done for them. It must be true that thousands of refugees are grateful, but so few of them ever give expression to their emotions while such cases as these are glaring examples of ingratitude:

Oscar Lange, who became a professor at Chicago University, turned on this land of freedom, denounced it, renounced his American citizenship, became the Communist Polish representative here, was sent by Poland to the United Nations, and now has disappeared from public view. Perhaps Lange is a minor official in Poland or maybe he is dead. But to me he is to be remembered as an ingrate.

The brothers, Hanns and Gerhardt Eisler, were admitted into this country as refugees. Hanns is a musician and he did very well, indeed, in Hollywood. Gerhardt was a spy and for a time was the top Communist agent in this country, representing the Comintern. He escaped from the United States and was set up in East Germany to conduct a violent and untruthful propaganda in Europe against the country that gave him a home when he was in physical peril.

Thomas Mann is one of the most distinguished writers in all the world. We gave him and his family sanctuary. As soon as it was safe for him, he moved to Red German territory as a respite from dwelling in America. He has not spoken well of us since.

These are but five examples of ingratitude. Many more can be cited, but they are mostly among the so-called great minds that seek a special status as superior to other men in a land where an employee of the Department of Sanitation is equal in the eyes of the law, and in a manner, socially, to a professor in a university. Is that wrong?

Flowers That Bloom In The Spring . . .

West Needs "Show Me" Attitude Toward Russians

By David Lawrence

NEW YORK—An adventure in the realm of appraisal—guessing the Soviet mind—took up most of the time of the three foreign ministers at their sessions here. About all they could focus on was that the Communists probably have something very definite in view besides mere propaganda.

This is an accurate analysis because everything for several weeks has pointed to the strategy of the Soviets as aimed at achieving definite gains at the conference table and not just a point or two for further debate on the radio waves.

Certainly the Communists are after something definite. They want to isolate Germany and Austria and want the United States troops withdrawn from Europe. They would like to see the German people tempted by the bait of reunification so that no German troops will ever join the Western defense. They would like to weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, too. All this is part of a deliberate program.

Foreign Ministers Cautious
What Messrs. Dulles, Pinay and MacMillan, representing the United States, France and Great Britain, are trying to do is to figure out some way to meet this unusual form of attack. Naturally the three foreign ministers are cautious. When they meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in San Francisco next week they will not try to settle anything except procedures—that is, how the Geneva conference of the four heads of state "at the summit" is to be conducted.

Thus far there is no formalized agenda, which means that nature will have to take its course once the "summit" conference gets going. But already it is announced that in the three or four days of the historic Four-Power conference nothing is to be decided on the major issues except the manner in which these issues are to be tackled, thereafter. Shall it be by the establishment of an agenda of subjects with special meetings of commissions to consider the pro and con? Shall the United Nations be asked to take up some of the problems?

Certainly the Four-Power conference at Geneva will mention every subject that today tends to disturb the peace of the world and some one of the participants will urge that something be done about each. But it is too early to say whether anybody will come up with a solution for the simple reason that no one knows if the Soviets have in mind the removal of the basic causes of the world unrest—their own aggressive operations throughout the Western countries.

So the three foreign ministers after a long conference here have concluded that it is necessary to keep open minded and on the alert. Foreign Secretary MacMillan of Great Britain put it this way afterward, in a public speech:

Makes Task More Difficult

"There are signs of a new look in Communist policy, a certain reduction of tension, a greater flexibility. But really that makes it all the more difficult not to make mistakes."

"What this meeting should be is not the end but the beginning. It should be the beginning of a new and fruitful phase. The heads of government could take a broad survey of the field, however wide. They would not seek to reach final agreements, but rather to agree upon the scope of the problems to be solved and the methods by which agreements could eventually emerge. They would plan the outline of the work for the foreign secretaries to carry on. This in some cases might best be carried out by other international procedures, such as the United Nations."

Mr. MacMillan didn't say a word about "compromise" nor did he hint that another Yalta type conference was in the offing, as did Adlai Stevenson in his speech earlier this week. Mr. MacMillan is purposely vague because no one knows how much faith or trust can be put in the Communist proposals.

The Daily Worker, Communist publication here, is of course all in favor of compromise and in an enthusiastic editorial Wednesday morning commends Adlai Stevenson for his speech and denounces Republicans who disagree as well as "some Stevenson's own colleagues in Congress" for their skeptical attitude toward the Big Four conference.

Plainly the only safe attitude for the Western statesmen to adopt toward the Russians is best expressed by old American slang: "You've got to show me."

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Might be that future depends on who can export the most co-existence.

Moscow has worked up a neat axis with Yugoslavia that gives 'em the first warm water they've seen since Czar Ivan scalded a cat.

It puts 'em smack on the Adriatic in a more strategic spot than a plumber under the kitchen sink.

The frontiers of Yugoslavia tie in with Italy, Austria, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Greece and Albania. That makes co-existence as chummy as two eggs in an omelet.

Russia has always been after a warm water seaport in the Red Sea, the Indian Ocean or the Adriatic. That's because the Turks could close the Dardanelles like a spring lock.

That's why Moscow is playing footsie with Tito. With its shoes off.

But Tito's mother didn't raise any dumb children. Ever since the upswitch in co-existence Tito has played both ends against the middle like a four-handed bass fiddler.

We figure Tito is in pretty much the same spot as Joe Jacobs when he took a fighter over into Shickelgruber's territory. The pictures showed Joe giving out with the arm salute to the fuhrer. When he was interviewed about it Joe said, "What would you do?"

When you're living under the guns cotton in your ears doesn't hurt.

Probably Tito prefers the American brand of co-existence. But nobody ever walked in a straight line in a swamp.

Anyway, the State Department doesn't seem any more worried than a tobacco-chewer with brown teeth.

Co-existence listens good but it's one of those games where you never know the score.

Properly Fitting Shoes, Hose Will Help Prevent Corns

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is more pain in a corn than meets the eye. These insignificant overgrowths are responsible for much distress which disturbs not only the disposition but the health. What can be done about them?

Most corns develop from ill fitting shoes that press or rub against the toes. The skin cells harden in self-defense to protect the underlying softer areas. The resulting overgrowth takes up space that already is at a premium and pain is bound to persist unless the corn is removed or larger shoes are worn.

The toes are most vulnerable because their cuticle is thin and lies close to the bone. Occasionally the hose are at fault, particularly when they are too long and fold or wrinkle on the feet. Thick seams do the same. Foot deformities also encourage corns unless custom made shoes are obtained. Everyone with hammer toe is bothered along this line.

The knobby toes of the arthritic may be susceptible and it is not unusual for a corn to occur on every new pressure point. Some of my patients had more distress from these lesions than from arthritis. A scar on the bottom of the toes or foot is equally vulnerable and some of the most painful corns arise over these lesions.

Irritation of the skin usually leads to swelling and inflammation or the formation of a blister. This is followed by heaping up of the outer cells, producing a surface many times as thick as the original skin.

In time, the center part becomes harder and harder, with the formation of a thorny core that tapers down to a point. When this stage is reached the slightest pressure forces the thornlike point into the sensitive regions beneath.

Soft corns usually are located between the toes where the skin is kept moist by perspiration. They are extremely painful. A bit of cotton between the affected toes will help keep the parts dry. Most lesions will disappear spontaneously when properly fitting shoes and hose are worn. Temporary relief is afforded by paring the upper layers of the corn or by wearing a ring-shaped or oval protective corn plaster.

Cutting is not always recommended, particularly in older persons with inadequate circulation. If there is any question, a chiropodist should be consulted.

Soaking the feet once or twice a day in warm water containing a teaspoonful of baking soda will help keep corns soft. Special salves and ointments also have this effect. Salicylic acid is one of the most popular ingredients in these products.

Supplying Of Salk Polio Vaccine Free To Children Called Socialized Medicine

By Drew Pearson

and Chairman Hall was able to get a quorum.

Inner committee debate since then has revolved around the question of whether vaccine shall be provided for all children under 20, as urged by the Democrats, or merely needy children under 20 as urged by the Republicans. The latter is the Eisenhower plan and would provide for 22 per cent of the children.

The difference in this appropriation to save lives is only about $95,000,000, which is pin money compared to the way military billion for taking lives are thrown around the capital. But the difference is not the money but those two words "socialized medicine" uttered by Mrs. Hobby when she opposed vaccine for all children under 20.

Washington Pipeline

There's at least one friend of Dan Acheson whom the Eisenhower administration hasn't fired from a key job—his son-in-law, William P. Bundy. Bundy is an expert on the National Security Council which holds super-secret meetings on the highest level and recommends foreign military policy to Ike. Acheson's son-in-law, however, continues to sit in its secret councils. Reason: he's not only an able man, but his father, a Republican, was assistant secretary of state under Stimson . . . The U. S. Court of Appeals has affirmed the $175,000 libel judgment against Westbrook Pegler. The money now goes to Quentin Reynolds, one of the few who have stood up to Pegler . . . Ex-Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, now ambassador to India, urged Ike to have a long and cordial session with Krishna Menon, the Indian diplomat who has not always been friendly to the U.S.A. Ike sandwiched him in between a meeting of GOP congressional leaders and a courtesy-curiosity call by winners of Amvet scholarships, but promised to talk with him again later.

McCarthy Committee Revamped
Arkansas' stern Senator McClellan, who took over the Senate Investigating Committee from Senator McCarthy, has been doing some of the things that McCarthy was supposed to do but didn't—probe graft in government.

This was why the committee was originally organized by Harry Truman, though McCarthy used it largely for Communist headline-hunting. The Internal Security Committee, incidentally, is the body supposed to track down Communists.

McClellan, therefore, has got the committee back on the track of digging into graft, and has come up with the amazing Army-Navy hat deals which might not have occurred had McCarthy been more alert.

Senator McClellan has leaned over backward to be fair, has hurled no political charges at Secretary of Defense Wilson or the White House for not detecting this graft. His impartiality, however, has been met with gibes from the McCarthyites.

McClellan took the gibes in angry silence until McCarthy's pal, South Dakota's Sen. Karl Mundt, came out in the open with a taunting remark.

It happened while McClellan was admonishing Chicago cap-maker Harry Lev on the witness stand.

"You be patient now and listen to my questions so you know just what is being asked of you," McClellan warned the reluctant witness. "And understand I'm trying to be fair to you. We're not having any badgering of the witnesses here."

"Mr. Lev," Mundt interrupted in a sarcastic voice, "you've been kidding the chairman but I want you to understand you're not kidding me. I'm tired of having a circus made out of this hearing."

The anger surged up McClellan's neck. He turned to Mundt and told him fiercely:

"Let me say to you he has not been kidding the chair. The chair has been trying to conduct this hearing with fairness to all. You withdraw that remark that he has been kidding the chair!"

Under McClellan's withering blast, roly-poly Mundt hastily retreated.

"All right," he said meekly, then revised his remark, "You are not going to kid me or kid the chairman."

The Yen For Newness

By Brother Barnabas

We are living in an era of transition from old to new patterns in art, architecture, literature and other forms of expressionism.

The cubist in art seeks to produce a specific aesthetic sensation rather than a representation of nature.

The reading habits of the great majority, if indeed they ever had any, are ruined by the comics, the pocket magazines, radio and television.

Churches are built to resemble igloos, are made of glass, supplanting noble Gothic architecture. Some modern edifices have no roof, except when it rains, when a canvas is drawn over.

Horses have disappeared except on dude ranches, in royal processions, or at the races.

Children in cities grow up under the impression that milk comes from tin cans or is manufactured in dairies.

Smelly stables have been succeeded by built-in garages with their less fetid odor of gasoline.

A Natural Yen

A great political convention will be held in August 1956, in "Cow Palace," San Francisco. It is hoped the place will be thoroughly deodorized by that time.

In the writer's boyhood days base ball was played by scrub teams on pasture lots. One day a "Dapper Dan," in making a forced run, slid on what he thought was third base.

There is a natural yen for newness. We want new clothes, new houses, modernized places of business, new cars, in Reno or Hollywood, new or made-over husbands or wives, as the case may be.

There is a natural repugnance to sameness. The Israelites complained of it in the wilderness: "There is nothing but this manna" (Numbers 11:6). We too like new food concoctions.

Warmed-over cabbage from last night's dinner is not a tempting dish for breakfast the next morning.

Dr. Powell's favorite foods are collard greens with plenty of salt, and buttered biscuits sprinkled with sugar. This came out at an "Appreciation Night" given this friend of mine at his retirement. They also gave him a new car and a check telling him to "go jump in the ocean in Florida." Here's a hint for a Father's Day celebration.

If in the near future you see a line of bewiskered strangers promenading Baltimore street, don't imagine that a more religious sect has come to town or they are a cove of Amish converts.

They are only enterprising the city's bicentenary by resurfacing their physiognomies with pendulous underbrush, and are really patriotic "brothers of the brush."

D. L. writes: Why are so many people bothered with postnasal drip?

Most of us live in dirty cities and are forced to inhale irritating dusts and chemicals. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on postnasal drip.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

The old and the new meet in array, and it's often difficult to know what to hang onto and what to let go.

Hard To Decide

Oliver Goldsmith was always in debt, but he had many famous and devoted friends. He said: "I love something that's old — old friends, old times, old manners, old books, and old wine." Unfortunately, he loved his wine too well.

Officially and commercially, tomorrow is "Fathers Day." How shall we celebrate? "A wise son makes a glad father" (Proverbs 10:1).

I'm sorry for this generation, they have such a hard time bringing up father. He is so old-fashioned, he has to be coached to keep him from becoming a dodo. He is so mid-Victorian.

You can't exchange him for another without your mother's consent. "What can't be cured must be endured."

Shall we give him a lash, or a loaf of sugar? If a lash, it should be applied where it is needed. If sugar he will sweeten and become a sugar daddy.

Give him a banquet with toasts from mother and each of the children, the youngest being toastmaster. Have a jolly time, laugh with him, not at him. You'll have a new daddy, the old one made over. He came home on his rockers, he left on his rails.

Gift From Providence

Fatherhood is a gift from Providence, designed for the enrichment of life and the propagation of the species. It is a spiritual quality that endures, even if reproduction is denied.

Silas Marner was a handloom weaver in George Eliot's book that bears that name. He was falsely accused of theft and for years he led a lonely life until he became a misanthrope.

One day he found a golden-haired baby girl, and on her he lavished the whole passion of his thwarted nature, and her filial affection was a redemptive force that made him a kindly man again.

This deponent has a distinct memory of his own father, he having "passed on" on my fifth birthday empty years ago.

But he has received counsel from "fathers in Israel" and some good mothers, too, who were the salt of the earth, with the net result that he has never, up till now, been sent to jail.

Whether he himself has been a cause celebre or a horrible example is a "matter of opinion" as a granddaughter said about her grades in school.

Calling all fathers is—

BROTHER BARNABAS.

You're Telling Me!

Sonja Dahnk, who was Germany's entry in the "Miss Europe" beauty contest staged in Helsinki, Finland, has gray hair. Now, declares Grandpappy Jenkins, these beauty contests are beginning to make sense.

Russian athletes, we read, are making strenuous efforts to get into the best possible condition for the 1956 Olympic Games in Australia. The Red runners, apparently, hope to wind up on top Down Under.

Amvets May End Md. Conventions

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—A proposal to scrap a state convention in favor of a meeting with groups from Virginia and the District of Columbia will come up tomorrow at the Maryland Amvets Convention.

The Amvets—American Veterans of World War II—will hold a one-day meeting at the Emerson Hotel. The proposal was voted down at the 1954 convention but will be resubmitted, State Commander G. Maynard Summers of Frederick said today.

Delegates to the veterans' meeting also will elect new officers. G. Horton Peace of Frederick, state adjutant, has been endorsed to represent Maryland at the national convention in Philadelphia Sept. 5-11.

Rep. Lankford, Democrat representing Maryland's 5th District, will speak at the convention banquet. The banquet will be followed by a dance.

Field Mass Will Be Held Tomorrow

A Field Mass will be held tomorrow at noon at Maryland, on Oldtown Road, under the sponsorship of the Men of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The Solemn High Mass will be held to honor all men and women of the area who paid the supreme sacrifice for their country.

The Field Mass, the first to be held here, was scheduled last Sunday but was postponed due to rainy weather.

Seven Area Men Join Air Force

Seven area men are reported as enlistments in the United States Air Force, according to Sgt. Clyde H. Owen, local recruiter in charge of the station here.

The group enlisted for four years each and includes, Cecil Lower, Antioch, W. Va.; James H. Thomas Jr., 425 Baltimore Avenue here; Edwin R. Aronholt, 17 Pennsylvania Avenue; George L. Henner, 16-A Jane Frazier Village; Francis A. Stallings, 231 Avirett Avenue; Arthur E. Dexter, 204 Columbia Street; and Franklin L. Evans, RFD No. 1, Keyser, W. Va.

Oldtown Methodists To Start Bible School

The daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Oldtown Methodist Church beginning Monday and ending Friday, July 1.

Daily sessions will be held from 1 until 3:30 p. m. under direction of Mrs. William Anderson.

Teachers in charge will be Mrs. Donald Carder, nursery; Mrs. Chester Carder, kindergarten; Mrs. Glenwood Allen, primary; Mrs. Raymond Duckworth, juniors; Mrs. Jessie Shippe, intermediate.

A parade will be conducted at 3 p. m. today to promote interest in the Bible School.

any law affecting one municipality must also apply to all others in the same population class. The amendment authorizes the Legislature to set up as many as four such classes, but instead it chose during its 1955 session to lump all cities and towns into one class.

Only in setting limits on tax rates and indebtedness may the Legislature pass laws for individual municipalities.

However, legislation setting up the mechanics of giving home rule to the cities and towns was not enacted until the last hours of the session. Most legislators were under the impression that, in the meantime, all other legislation affecting municipalities was in a state of suspended animation.

Dr. Joseph M. Ray, Municipal League consultant, agreed with Everette that the question of validity of many pieces of local 1955 legislation will be determined ultimately by the courts. Such laws, added Ray, "are going to be ruled out."

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT

Sam and his force caught up with the Mexicans near a river called the San Jacinto and, though greatly outnumbered, he attacked. His battle cry, "Remember the Alamo!" spurred his men on. It was over in jig time with the enemy smashed. The war was over!

Houston had been wounded in the leg and as he rested under a tree after the battle a guard brought a prisoner to him. It was the Mexican General Santa Anna. Sam could not shoot him dead for what he did at the Alamo, but he spared the underserving rascal's life.

The newly-freed Texans were so wild with joy they elected Houston their president. Then they founded a new town on Buffalo Bayou, which was to be their capital. They named it Houston. Today it stands a fine, big city—a fitting monument to a great man.

Told By AN OLD SCOUT

After Texas joined the Union other honors came to Sam Houston. The new state sent him to the Senate, then elected him governor. He lived to a good age but I'll wager he best liked to remember when he joined hands with Davy Crockett to fight for freedom.

NEXT—Buck Travis, commander of the Alamo defenders, is born.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

MESSIAN SERVICE

A funeral service for Mrs. Margaret Messman, 47, of 219 South Smallwood Street, who died Thursday in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since Sunday, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the George Funeral Home.

Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. The body is at the funeral home.

Pallbearers will be James Perin, Harry Walsh, Walter Alderton, Nile, Eugene and Russell Weber.

HARRY O. MERRITT

PARSONS, W. Va. — Word has been received here of the death of Harry Merritt, 55 of Mannington, a native of Tucker County who died in the Veteran's Hospital in Clarksburg on Sunday where he had been a patient at various times in the past 19 months with a heart condition.

BEGINNER'S LUCK

THE hand below had its humorous side—although East and West couldn't see it. The North player was a young woman who had lately learned the Blackwood convention—she said—but when it came time to answer her partner's four-notrump call, she had a lapse of memory, or something. (Perhaps it was simply an instance of the alleged feminine incapacity of counting up to one!) In any case, she gave out some very misleading information, but when it was all over it wasn't her partner who complained.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

EN ROUTE, June 17—(INS)—Almost always there's somebody aboard a plane, coming home, who has been back to see what he left. Or what his father or grandfather left. TWA Flight 923 out of Athens was no exception.

"I hadn't seen the city or my brother for 40 years," the Cleveland realtor said sadly and suddenly, in the middle of a discussion about the chances of the 1955 Indians. "I don't remember that it was so hard when we were children. I wish . . ."

I knew what he wished. He wished he had made enough money in the United States to build a plant or a business in Athens that could take care of his brother and all his other relatives. But he can't and the frustration is great in a naturalized American who compares how he does things to how they still do them back in the old country.

"My brother works like a dog for a dollar a day," he continued. "My two nieces, beautiful girls as you see here in the pictures, work for three dollars a week. There is little chance that they can marry without outside help because of the dowry they'd be expected to give to the husband."

"My brother is a good man who raised his family religiously. He deserves lots better but there isn't much doubt that he'll stay as is. He couldn't understand about the new Ford-UAW contract. Just couldn't understand about extra money for overtime, guaranteed lay-off pay, sick benefits for families of workers and things like that. He has everything it would take to be a member of the middle class. But there just ain't no middle class. A few people are very rich; the others are poor as hell and keep working with tools and ideas that must be a thousand years old."

"I'd like to know where all the money goes, the dough we taxpayers send to Greece. My brother he don't see none of it. When he and his family need a bath they must go to a public bath house. They live on beans, beans, beans. No thought of any sports, television, radio, a car, ice-box . . . nothing. My heart felt broken in many pieces when I sent my sister-in-law to the market to buy the family the food they needed. The man in the market questioned her about buying meat. 'You buy meat only at Easter,' he said, and she answered, 'My brother-in-law is visiting us from the city Cleveland of the United States of America.'"

The first thing the Clevelanders is going to do, once back in what he called the good old states, is send more clothing and food to his relatives and begin the task of getting immigration papers for one of the nieces.

He looked around at the scattering of empty seats in the Constellation and there was a suggestion of tears in the good man's eyes.

"If only my whole family could be sitting in those," he said. To me it said volumes more than a thousand Fourth of July speeches.

Defense Secretary Wilson should be pleased to know that his crack down on military news sources has permeated the U. S. military mission in Turkey. The men seen scared stiff to answer the most innocuous questions. At the luncheon that formally opened the Istanbul Hilton I said to the colonel next to me, an amiable man, "How are things going here with you?" He stiffened imperceptibly and said, "You'll have to take that up with mission headquarters in Ankara." On the Istanbul golf course an Air Force colonel I know from Washington said, "Call me tomorrow and we'll get together on a story." When I called he said, "I'm sorry. I checked Ankara and we're not to talk about anything anymore."

P.S.—I have smuggled the following information out of Turkey: The Turkish army is composed of Turks, hates communism, loves us, doesn't get paid salaries, has no PX or USO or NCO clubs, and would like to be remembered fondly by the people who made its strength possible—yours.

STRIKING WORKERS WAVE and cheer in Buenos Aires as they march to the center of the city bearing banners and an effigy of a Cardinal (right). The strike, by tens of thousands of persons, was inspired by the Argentine government to demonstrate support for President Juan Peron's anti-clerical campaign. Msgr. Manuel Tato, acting Roman Catholic Archbishop of Buenos Aires, and Msgr. Ramon Carlos Novoa were arrested and deprived of recognition in connection with earlier demonstrations against the government. Peron appealed to the throngs to be calm. (International Radiophoto)

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

I sometimes wonder if the net-works understand what children really want. My own go in for very gentle shows like cartoons. Recently a couple of real sleepers have come along that the children have taken to their hearts. One series consists of the old "Our Gang" comedies that are harum scarum but not really violent, certainly by modern standards. Another is a local show in New York called "Tinker's Workshop" which may be the gentlest show on the air.

The show (WABC-TV 8 a. m. Mondays through Fridays) is opposite NBC's "Today" and CBS's "The Morning Show" and has twice the rating of both of them put together. Tinker is a 27-year-old actor named Bob Keshan who is made up as a stocky, sleepy-looking, elderly character with huge light moustaches, gold-rimmed spectacles, and a sort of Santa Claus helper's costume of breeches and waistcoat. His habitat is a sort of small town toy shop of a bygone era with toys on the shelves and six odd clocks along the wall.

Tinker does the simplest things and the kids eat it up. As a record player he'll pick up a stuffed elephant, hold it in front of the camera, and wiggle it gently back and forth as though the elephant were dancing. Sometimes all you see is one eye and part of the head, gently wiggling. He may put three or four stuffed animals—the kind kids like to take to bed—on a lazy susan which revolves gently, a sort of play merry-go-round.

There are three cartoons on the show, oldtime Felix the Cat type cartoons, five records with elemental video shenanigans, and, the rest of the time Tinker—the only person on the show—wanders around, feeding a couple of puppies or kittens from ASPCA or playing with a tiny monkey twice a week—they can't afford the monkey any oftener than that or maybe putting together a jig saw puzzle. And this sort of thing is knocking the stuffing out of the big elaborate "Today" and "Morning Show."

Tinker gives time and weather in an informal way, from time to time reminding the kids that if it's time to leave for school they'd better get going. "Make sure you dress warmly," he'll say. "I don't want you to catch cold even if it is June."

Keeshan, who smiles as seldom as Ed Sullivan, is dead in earnest about his little show. He played Clarabelle on "Howdy Doody" for five years, learned a lot from Bob Smith but also, apparently has learned what not to do. Coming from one of the noisiest shows on the air, he has created one of the quietest.

He also recognizes what so many people don't—that children are eager to learn. He introduces them to classical music by saying that good music, like a good friend, grows on you the better you get to know it. He plays music over and over again until it becomes familiar to the kids, using simple bits of video—pipe cleaner baller-inas on string for "Swan Lake" or a cardboard bullfighter on strings for the Toreador song.

He reads Little Golden Books and others aloud, showing the kids the illustrations. He thinks it important to instill respect for authority—the policeman, school teacher and bus driver. He pretends to live in a small community where he encounters the policeman or the bus driver and talks about them like old friends until the children get to know them.

As to safety, he has an agreement with the children that, if they'll stay off the street, he has got the autos to promise they'll stay out of the playground and off the slides and swings. Pretty silly, he'll say, to think of an auto trying to get on a slide or swing. However, he'll add, it's just as silly for the kids to play in the streets which belong to the autos.

It's all very gentle, relaxing and, above all, successful. "TV," says Keeshan, "is people and ideas. You can take the biggest budget in the world—without an idea you don't have a show. On Tinker's Workshop the mood and atmosphere are much more important than what's in the show. If I had a huge budget I sometimes wonder if I'd be able to spend it. It could have Mr. Peterson the Policeman appear, but he'd have to be just right. Maybe it would never be as good as imagining the people."

By CARL ANDERSON

"I think he's just being narrow-minded--her dress didn't look THAT daring!"

Cord of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to Rev. Davis, friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our bereavement, the death of our son, Melvin Swick. We are glad to think those who sent flowers and letters care for the funeral.

Dwelling At A Bargain
I have one of the best real estate values in Cumberland, built in 1950, located on Johnson Heights in a most desirable location, at a price of $10,000 less than could purchase such a fine building site today and construct such a well built dwelling. With a brick bungalow-type building in rear easily convertible to dwelling or garage and workshop. With Cumberland's approaching industrial expansion this property should sell for considerably more in a short time. Don't pass up this opportunity and in a few years say, "Gosh, wish I had been wise enough to have picked up that bargain." Sale price $15,750.

Serviceman Fatally Hurt In Truck Crash

Tragedy Occurs At Bloomington

A 21-year-old serviceman of the Bloomington area, who was home on furlough, died yesterday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained when a loaded coal truck he was driving went out of control and upset, throwing him from the cab.

Escaping injury was a passenger in the truck who leaped to safety. Killed in the accident which occurred about 1:30 p. m. two miles west of Bloomington on Route 135 was Pfc. Daniel Lewis Bever, of Box 51, Bloomington.

The owner of the truck and passenger in the cab was Carroll J. Jeffries, of 61 West Hampshire Street, Piedmont. Bever was pronounced dead on arrival at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, by Dr. Paul R. Wilson, Piedmont physician.

Fractured Skull

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy county medical examiner of Garrett County, said death was due to a fractured skull.

The fatal accident occurred as Bever was driving the loaded coal truck downgrade along Backbone Mountain. State Police said something happened to the gear system, and as it went out of control, Jeffries called to Bever to jump to safety but he remained at the controls.

Jeffries leaped from the cab and apparently escaped injury. The heavily loaded truck plummeted down the highway and careened to the left and turned over.

Authorities said Bever was thrown from the vehicle for a distance of about 20 feet. The bed of the truck was torn off by the impact and the load of coal hurled along the road.

Father Killed

Ironically Bever's father, Daniel L. Bever, was killed in a similar accident in about the same location as yesterday's mishap.

Pfc. Bever was stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., and arrived home on furlough Tuesday and was to report back on the 29th of this month.

He had been in the service for about 16 months and saw service in Alaska with the 11th Airborne Division.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Nellie Jose Bever, of Piedmont; a brother, James Bever, Piedmont; and two half-sisters, Miss Beatrice Haggerty and Miss Joanne Haggerty, both of Westernport.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad of Oakland investigated for State Police.

158 Homemakers Graduate From Short Course

Told Unity Essential In Winning Peace

COLLEGE PARK, June 17 (AP)—Members of Homemakers Clubs from all over Maryland wound up their annual "Week at College" today and 158 of them received honor awards.

The "graduates," all in white dresses, marched to a new tune in the academic procession for the ceremonies.

It was the "Home Makers March," written by Mrs. G. H. Rue of Denton, Md., and dedicated to members of the Maryland clubs.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, said in his commencement address he felt the world now has "a fighting chance for peace."

He said it was a shame "it is easier for our sons to die together in war than for us to live together in peace."

He said an essential in winning the peace is "unity, but not uniformity."

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, presented pins to 36 women who have attended eight or more of the annual editions of the "Rural Women's Short Course."

Another 122 received certificates showing they had completed four years of participation.

Mrs. Florence W. Low, head of the home demonstration staff of the university's farm extension service, and Helen Irene Smith, Cecil County home demonstration agent, helped Dr. Elkins perform the honors.

Visiting delegations swelled the crowd in the university armory to almost 1,500. About 970 of them were women who started the week last Monday and since have attended eight hours of classes in the various homemaking arts.

Bridge Ceremony To Be Feature Of Bicentennial

Stores Will Display Historical Relics

The dedication of the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge will be held during the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Week, it was announced yesterday.

Leaders of the Bicentennial Committee met yesterday and laid definite plans to dedicate the new span on Wednesday, August 17.

Plans for the ceremony will be in charge of W. Earle Cobey and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, co-chairmen of the Special Days Committee.

The committee will work with local and state officials in planning the dedication as one of the main events of the week's celebration.

Civic organizations have been making a strong bid to have the span crossing the Potomac River at Riverside Park named the George Washington Crossing, so it will have a special significance in the events marking the 200th anniversary of Fort Cumberland.

All work on the Maryland approach to the bridge is expected to be completed by the dedication date.

Executive Committee members also yesterday decided to display historical relics of this area in store windows instead of holding one display at the Maryland State Armory.

Plans for these exhibits are being made by a Special Events committee headed by Charles S. Catherman Jr. and Mrs. Albert S. Payne.

Crews of the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company are making good progress on the Frederick Street improvement program. Moving from 800 to 900 feet a day, the crews seen here are laying the second 12-foot driving lane of the new highway. The first lane was completed to the 700 block of Frederick Street on June 6, and good weather has speeded work on the second lane. After this lane is completed, the contractor will lay an eight-foot parking lane on the east side of the street, and supply curbs and sidewalks, for the 1.429 mile section of federal-aid project which will be the northbound route to U. S. 220.

Sybert Holds To Ruling On Disputed Laws

Validity Of Area Bills Is Questioned

BALTIMORE, June 18 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Sybert said today he will "stand by" an informal opinion upholding three new Maryland laws whose validity has been questioned.

"We passed on them before the governor signed them," said Sybert, "and we are resting on that action. However, I would like to point out we are not a court and we are not infallible."

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, raised the question about the measures.

At a meeting of the Maryland Municipal League last Saturday, Everstine suggested that the measures conflict with the State's new home - rule constitutional amendment.

Three Are Cited

Everstine mentioned about a dozen bills which he said are of questionable validity but emphasized these three:

House Bill 638, which requires the approval of voters in referendum before zoning regulations may be adopted in Queen Annes and Talbot County.

Senate Bill 357, which increases the share of Cecil County cities and towns in money raised from tax sales.

Senate Bill 570, which gives Queen Annes County cities and towns a bigger share of roads funds.

Among the others were laws granting tax exemptions to new Garrett County industries, allowing tax assessment reductions for machinery or raw materials in Hagerstown, and allowing Allegany County to pay Westernport money for damages caused to the town by the Savage River Dam.

The broad question raised by Everstine was whether such legislation conflicts Maryland's new home-rule constitutional amendment. This takes the power of making laws for individual cities and towns away from the Legislature and places it in the hands of the municipalities themselves.

Low-Flying Craft Disrupt Power Near Petersburg

High-Tension Lines Snap In West Virginia

A low-flying airplane yesterday afternoon was blamed for the curtailment of electric power in the Petersburg Gap area of West Virginia as a three-phase high tension line carrying some 34,500 volts of electricity snapped.

Telephone service from Elkins to Petersburg was also reported out as a result of the accident. Authorities said that three single-engine airplanes, presumably belonging to the Marine Corps, "hedge-hopped" the Petersburg Gap area about 3 p. m. yesterday.

One of the planes apparently hit the lines or else the "back wash" caused the three lines to swing back and forth and snap when they made contact.

A spokesman for the Potomac Edison Company last night said the line from Moorefield to Petersburg was knocked out and the breaker at the Romney-Moorefield Junction tripped following the mishap.

The break occurred in the vicinity of the boundary between Hardy and Grant counties across Route 220. The line also traverses the South Branch of the Potomac River in that section.

Power in the area was still out at 10 p. m. yesterday. West Virginia State Police, who investigated reported that the three hedge-hopping planes were forest green in color and had a star on them.

However, authorities were unable to check the numbers on the airplanes. Potomac Edison crews were out late last night attempting to get power restored to the area.

Trooper D. A. Burner, of the West Virginia State Police stationed at Moorefield, investigated the accident. Police said the planes appeared to be headed in a northerly direction along the river. Power was also reported out in the Franklin W. Va., section.
